Dear Siti

My apologies for not getting back to you sooner.
I was away due to some family matters and have just been back to work.

For the copies, I'm sorry to tell you that we are going to resend them to you in Indonesia. According to the distribution staff here, I was told that she typed the mailing address incorrectly, so the parcel was returned to our university (and left at the office of the central university, not directly returned to our organisation). She was just detected that. Our big apologies then. She resent the copies to Indonesia and hope that you will get them pretty soon.

Hope your daughter has a good time in Bangkok. Unfortunately, I need to be away for a conference so I couldn't show her around Bangkok (actually Siam Paragon Shopping Center is located just about 10 minute walk from my building!)

Have a nice week.

Dear Siti

Thanks for your email and very sorry for not getting back to you sooner. I was away from the uni (and also the Internet) for a while as my dad was diagnosed with colon cancer and needed urgent operation. He lives in another province so I needed to on leave. Fortunately, the operation late last night was very successful, so I feel much better now.

As for the information about your publication, I'd like you to adhere to the the actual publication, that is vol. 47 (Jan - June 2014).

The letter initially reads 48 (July - December 2014) because when the ms was received, I was afraid that it may take longer time for the review process. Fortunately, it completed sooner than we expected.

Should you need a new letter of acceptance? If so, is it possible to send it to you in the early of the second week of Jan 2015? The uni is going to close in a few days, but I could not go to uni as I need to be at the hospital with my dad (the formal letter needs to be signed by me and also approved by other members before it can be sent out).

Thanks again for your email and Merry Christmas and Happy New Year.

Best wishes,

Dear Pramarn,
Thank you for your email confirming the way to download.
I was successful in downloading some articles, including mine.
Could I have a confirmation about my published ms?
Part of the acceptance letter you sent states:

The editorial team finds that your article is interesting, providing potential pedagogical implications for the field of second/foreign language education. We are therefore pleased to inform you that your paper is accepted for publication in PASAA (Vol. 48: July -December 2014).

However, my downloaded article indicates that is not 48 but vol. 47 (Jan. - June 2014).
which one is correct?

Thank you for your attention.

All the best,
Mina

Hi again,

I think I forgot to give you the website of our journal, so embarrassing.

Please visit this website:http://www.culi.chula.ac.th/Publicationonline/current\_issue\_p1.php

I'd also like to know if you are interested in serving as our editorial committee member. I think that your expertise in ELT/TESOL can greatly help us when we need more reviewers for the journal. We'd like to have representatives from different countries to review papers and share their ideas in publishing scholarly papers.

We look forward to working with you.

Best wishes,

Hi Siti

Many thanks for not contacting you for a long time.

The journal has been published and we are going to send complimentary copies to you. We also have a companion online version of the journal. You can view your article and others in all issues online for free. You can simply click 'subscribe for full papers', fill in your info, and then log in. Then you can see all articles and download all if you want.

Could you please give me your mailing address so that I can send you hard copies of the journal.

(And sincere apologies...we've been very busy these few months so I put aside the journal work. 11 teachers retired in September, but the numbers of students have increased dramatically. We require 34 teachers with PhD to fill vacancies...unfortunately, it is not easy to do so...so we have to teach extra hours...)

Many thanks for your contribution. I also hope that we will get further contributions from you and your colleagues.

Best wishes,

Pramarn

I can understand how you feel about the situation in your country. I hope it gets better soon.
Well, as I am ready with the ms which has been edited by a native speaker (not Gaby but Tim in the States), I get back to you now.

I am sending 2 versions (to let you know the progress).
Thank you for your attention.

Dear Mina

How're you?

I'm sorry for not getting back to you sooner. We've gone through your revised paper and found it very interesting and useful for our prospective readers.

I'm pleased to inform you that your paper is accepted for publication in PASAA in Vol. 48 (July - December 2014). However, we would like you to further make a few amendments on the manuscript.

In the last paragraph of Section 1 (Introduction), you refer to yourself as '...an attempt of the writer to share classroom practice...'. However, in Section 4 (for example, in Paragraph 2), you refer to yourself as '...I implemented not only...'. To make it consistent, perhaps you may consider using either 'I' throughout the manuscript (to make it more conversation-like when sharing teaching tips with others) or 'the writer'. This depends on you (but personally, I'd go for 'I' here.).

Also in Paragraph 2 (Sec 4), you mention that the paper is based on your classroom teaching experience in "...semester of 2008/2009 academic". As the manuscript will be published in 2014, some may wonder why the sharing of the idea is delayed (in a sense, it seems what you share is a bit old when we consider the year of the practice/experience). I guess that you have found the teaching activities you used in 2008/2009 useful and you have used them in your class until now. Perhaps, you may add a few sentences somewhere in the paper to show readers that although what you are sharing in this paper is based on
